Base Ball.

The Paris Base Ball team returned from Shelbyville Wednesday night after playing two games there, winning one with score of 8 to 4, and losing one with score of 6 to 4. The ice however, is broken and we can look for better things. Fleming was the pitcher that stopped the "hoodoo" in the first game at Shelbyville. The second game there was pitched by Quinlin masterly style allowing only four hits to be made by these sluggers. The game being lost in the eighth inning by errors. The features of the latter game were Quinlan's pitching and Scott's fielding at short for Paris.

The home team went to Lexington yesterday and the following tells the Bardo should be released on his record in the last few games, especially yesterday's.

Why not open negotiations with Otto Miller, catcher, late of Louisville Association team?

Lattimer was "rotten" behind the bat yesterday, being responsible for Lexington's first two runs.

Joe Varden says, "we can't expect to win all the games." Dr. Dudley says "its tough luck," and some one else says it was Han-a-gin."

The patrons of the game don't mind a player making an error occasionally but when the same player is regular with them the public gets sore.

We predict that before the game is two weeks older that Scott, the new Paris short stop, will be considered one of the very fastest men in the today and tomorrow. The champions are a strong bunch, but the Bourbonites are beginning to play fast ball and Paris fans should not miss either of these games, for they will be corkers.

The crack Winchester team, who call themselves the "Hustlers" will be up with the Bourbonites Sunday afternoon, at League Park. It is said that five hundred Winchester fans will be here to see Sunday's game.

A large banner "Game Today" stretched from C. R. James' corner to Wills poolroom corner will always keep the public posted as to home games.

There will be a special train that will leave Cynthiana Sunday at 2 p. m. for parties who desire to see the ball game between Paris and Winchester in this city. The train will return at 6:30 after the game.

Ike Price, who ordered shirts in case lots expecting to keep the Bourbonites supplied in this wearing apparel, offering a shirt for each home run knocked on the home grounds, hasn't had any calls for the garments and is beginning to wonder what disposition he can make of his stock.

Scott, like another fellow of the same name, is showing considerable speed—not on a train, however—but on short. He is proving himself to be "the kid" with the stick.

Now that Barnett has shaved, it is quite likely that he feels much better and will no doubt be in the game with renewed energy.

an industry in his own district that clamors for protection is difficult. When William Jennings Bryan was in Congress it was proposed to put a duty on beet sugar. This dialogue occurs in the Congressional Record for 1892:

"Mr Perkins: Are you to be understood as opposed to a State or National protection to be extended to the beet ugar industry?

"Mr. Bryan: I am, most assuredly. (Loud the applause on the Democratic side.) And when it is neccessary to come down to Congress and ask for a protection or a bounty for an industry in my own State, I shall cease to represent Nebraska in Congress. (Great applause on the Democratic side.)"

Champ Clark in the present Congress, has taken the same point of view. He was put in a difficult position by the demand, on the part of his constituents, for a tariff on zinc. Clark was outspoken:

Laxative for purposes to which a laxative should be put. Tablets and pills, salts, etc., are usually violent purgatives or cathartics, and altogether too powerful for the average person.

A woman at all times needs only a mild laxative—in fact, none other is needed by anyone, weak or strong though they may be, for the object is simply to move the bowels, and if a gentle laxative will do it, what is the viscolar and the strong though the strong through t will do it, what is the use of a violent one?

Or. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin has earned a well-deserved vogue among women and children and old folks—people who must necessarily be careful of what they take. It is a liquid laxative tonic and admittedly the greatest stomach, liver and bowel remedy before the American people. The price is only 50 cents or $1 a bottle, as it comes in both sizes, and all druggists sell it. Its pleasant taste and gentle action make it an ideal remedy for women in constipation, torpid liver, sour stomach, sick headache, heartburn and such like digestive complaints. Its use for a short time will remove the trouble entirely so that future medication will be unnecessary. Its tonic properties build up the stomach and intestinal muscles so that they act naturally again. That this is so is the experience of many heads of families, like Mrs. Brannan, of Alvarado, Va., Mrs. K. L. Stout, of Louisville, Ky., and numerous others; in fact, way out in Williams, Cal., as Mrs. J. E. Blackmore, of that place, writes, the whole town seems to be using it.

WINTER WOOD.

It Makes the Best and Most Lasting Kind of Timber.

It has long been known that winter was the best time of the year for cutting down trees for their timber, but until the American bureau of forestry published the results of some experiments no one was sure why. The bureau of forestry selected four pine trees of the same age and of equal vigor, growing in the same soil, and felled them, the first at the end of December, the second at the end of January, the third at the end of February and the fourth at the end of Name Bay Hamiltonian by Hambletonian 10 January, the third at the end of Feb-March. They were hewn into logs of the same size and dried at the same place. Then the logs were tested.

Cracked Furniture.

Ugly marks caused by splits or cracked places in furniture are easily filled in with beeswax, and the mark is never detected. In fact, this is how furniture dealers cover such blemishes. First slightly soften the beeswax until It is like putty, then press firmly into the cracks and smooth evenly with a thin knife. Sandpaper over the surrounding wood and work the dust surrounding wood and work the dust into the beeswax. This gives a wood finish or color, and when the furniture is varnished you will look in vain for the blemishes. It is better than putty, since putty soon dries, crumbles and fails out, while beeswax will remain forever just where it is placed.

They Needed Prayers.

A member of parliament tells a good story of an out of the way country clergyman who did not keep up to date in what was going on in the world. One Sunday he asked his sexton: "Is the prayer for parliament to be used today? Is parliament still sitting?"

The sexton's reply came promptly, 'Well, sir, I don't know; but, anyhow, better pray for them, for they're a precious bad lot!"-London Standard.

Eddie Warren, the eccentric comedian, whose make-up was good, and with a line of talk out of the ordinary and several original and eatchy songs was productive of many hea ty laughs. These with an illustrated song by Miss Lovely and two motion pictures, completed a very pleasing program and one well worth seeing.

Last night there was an entire change of program composed of Downard and Downard in their laughable sketch "Bracing Up," This little playlet is a howl from start to finish.

Mr. Downard greatly amused the ardience by making a change from white to black-face in full view.

The Great La Varre and his charming wife in the "Place of Mysteries," occupied twenty minutes that were full of interest. La Varre introduced several feats of legerdemain that were originated by himself, which are exceedingly clever. Undoubtedly his best mysticism is the act in which he produces a lady apparently from no where, which is very difficult to see through. We have had many magicians but none in a class with La Varre, who with elaborate stage apparatus and great skill proves to be the best

An illustrated song by Miss Lovely and two clever motion pictures, one of them "Julius Caesar," a highly colored film, presenting the well known istorical tragedy, proved one of the best of the good performances that have been the offering of the new management.

One of the most remarkable places

In the streets, in the places of amusement, the cafes and workshops these patients may be found, and nowhere is there the remotest suggestion of restraint apparent. The board ranges from 240 to 2,400 marks a year, and, no matter how small the amount may be, the patient is always the favored member of the family. He has the first right to the most comfortable chair, and the head of the table belongs to him. He receives the most attention, and this he learns to appreciate and to endeavor to maintain by living down his illness. Even the children know how to treat the demented people. The dangerous ones are sent to another settlement and to institutions. It is wonderful how considerate, careful and kind the simple people are toward their charges, and a peep into the community would probably terrify physicians who had never heard of and could not appreciate the good which is being done in this "City of the In-

The Salt Sea Legend.

There is a legend in the Norse scalds which explains why the sea is salt. The "bountiful Frodi," whose mythical reign was a golden age indeed, possessed a quern, or hand mill, which ground out gold and peace, but which would grind out stores of anything desired by its owner. Two giant maidens, ruled over by Frodi, were the most fastidious woman, both as grinders. In an evil day a sea rover came upon the scene, slew Frodi and carried off the quern and the two giant maidens who worked it. When the sea rover's vessel was right out at sea he ordered the maidens to grind salt. At midnight they asked if they had not ground enough. The sea rover, angry at being awakened from his sleep, commanded them to grind. until morning. Now, the giant maidens naturally enough worked very quickly, so as they went on grinding the load of salt grew so heavy that it sank the ship, and now the sea will continue salt forever.

Looked Too Far. There was an English farmer, Somersetshire man, who once owned a telescope. The old man remarked to a friend at a local race meeting that the gentry nowadays had glasses for both eyes and added that he "had had one once for one eye, a right good one it was, but now it was no use at allno, not to nobody."

"Why not?" asked the friend.
"Well," he said, "it were a good one. I could see miles wi' en. I could see plain the steeple of the church five miles off. But missus' son John, he borrowed en, and he tried to see the steeple of t'other church, ten miles And that strained it, and it were never of no use any more-no, not to nobody."

Fruit All Right,

H. F. Hillenmeyer, the well known Lexington nurseryman, has given out. the following statement regarding the fruit crop:

"Last year, on the morning of May 1, the Kentucky fruit crop went a-glimering. On May 21, 1863, the destruction was even more complete. This prophet looks into the future, dimly remembering the past.

"It may be said, however, that the severe frost of the eighth and tenth of April did no serious harm. The fully expanded blossoms were pretty closely nipped, but things were not in full 100 bloom, and there is yet promise of a nice yield. Elberta, Heath and early bloomers, and those that bloom all in a lump are in a bad way. The pear is a maiden that easily shivers in the cold, and will some philosopher now arise and say why the fully expanded flowers of the entire Japan section never winced? The plentitude of the Keffer winced? The plentitude of the Keffer will fill the earth with its abundance, for the expanded foilage is the mantle of fullest protection.

"I don't like to say it, but the apple crop will be slim. The trees are not well set with flower buds. On good ground, on young trees, in places where the roots could gather moisture there may be a fair crop but only on such and in such places.

'Strawberries languished all the fall and how can a starving lion be filled with vigor? This is true of the bush fruits and brambles generally."

Saturday the gentleman in this city received a letter from his old friend, who now resides in California, enclosing a check for fifteen dollars. The writer stated that in his youthful days he had won this money as wagers from the Winchester man, and that now as he had been converted his conscience would not be at rest until he returned the money. Naturally the letter and check came as a pleasant surprise to the Winchester man, who had forgotten the matter years ago.

Howe's Great London Circus.

The clowning part of a circus proram is not understood by the out-There are many times during the show when there is not a clown in sight, and then in the next instant the hippodrome tack will almost swarm with them. They seem to spring from the ground, and they will disappear as

The presence of the clown is appropriate and is desired with most circus acts, and again there are some feawhich would be ruined if they llowed to be clowned. Clown-

When intermingling with citizens on the streets they would not be suspected of being wearers of the loose robe of a fool, but when they appear in the circus rings with their make-ups on they laugh and the crowds laugh with them. They help to unload, tempoat least, the cares from the of thousands of people. These men who appear so dignified and quiet upon the streets and out of the circus ring would never be picked out as being clowns on the road, but they are. The work of the clowns with the Howe's London Show is not the same day after day, as they take delight in springing new jokes and new tricks upon their co-workers, which entertains the members of the troupe as well as the audience. Howe's show will be here on Monday, May 24.
